

Allowing passengers to talk on their cellular telephones inflight would create a nuisance for passengers sitting near the person.